

On the Wings of the Wind tells the inspiring story of God's call to a young man in his early twenties and records His faithfulness in the launching of a mission which would finally encompass the globe. This thrilling saga describes the birth and growth of Healthcare Christian Fellowship International and gives glory to God who first made the vision known.

Francis Grim, now in his nineties, believes that Christ-centred medical care can reach every strata of society - kings and their subjects, the elderly and the infants, businessmen and beggars, the intellectuals and the illiterates, the rich and the poor. In peace-time or war-time people can be touched and influenced by those who care for them on the level of health.

He says: Millions of patients, often accompanied by their relatives, pass through the open doors of hospitals and healthcare centres every year. For most of them, the compassionate ministry of healthcare staff is eagerly sought for, while they cling to life in all its fragility. For many, a hospital bed is the last stop before eternity.
